Don't Stand By, STAND UP - Fall Kallah 2010

Touchstone Text:

Detailed Procedure:

00:00 - 00:20 Hike through History - 20 minutes

All PPs will be walking through a guided path, most likely along the edge of a room. As they enter, rude comments will be yelled at them (Appendix B). The lights must be low, setting a grim mood, and along the edges of the walls will be personal stories or facts about bullying and the LGBT community (Appendix A), that all PPs will walk past within 20 minutes. At the end of the path, a group leader will be directing PPs to three different locations, Rotation 1, Rotation 2, and Rotation 3. This way the PPs are split up evenly and fairly.

00:20 - 00:45 Rotation 1 - 25 minutes

Every station will have a slightly different schedule, based on the activity that they are doing.

The schedule for Station 1 is Appendix C.

The schedule for Station 2 is Appendix F

The schedule for Station 3 is Appendix I

All PPs will participate in all Stations, starting at whichever station they are sent to after exiting the “Hike Through History”.

00:45 - 00:50 Switch - 5 minutes

All PPs will be sent to the next Station, which can be found within their individual Appendices.

00:50 - 01:15 Rotation 2 - 25 minutes

Same as Rotation 1

01:15 - 01:20 Switch - 5 minutes

All PPs will be sent to the next Station, which can be found within their individual Appendices.

01:20 - 01:45 Rotation 3 - 25 minutes

Same as Rotation 1/Rotation 2

01:45 - 01:50 Switch to Closing - 5 minutes

All PPs will be sent to the closing location Lower Sports Field

01:50 - 02:00 Closing - 10 minutes

3 large circles will be made, each containing the PPs that stayed together during the Rotations. The PLs will explain the activity (Appendix J).

History of Bullying and bullying facts. To be cut out individually and posted. Around Baruh Hall. PPs will walk around the room lit by tea candles reading these, and at the end of the room an advisor will be posted splitting them evenly into three groups, sending them to the Leadership Bowl

Area outside of Baruh Hall

Dining Hall

Bullying doesn't have to be with fists.

Words hurt just as much.

Ashley Longe, Flanery Mullins, and Sharon Velazquez are all being persecuted as bullies. They called Phoebe Prince countless names, and even threw cans at her when she walked into homeroom one day. Phoebe Prince committed suicide, and the court case, currently going on, will bring in around 50 witnesses against these 3 bullies.

Race, ethnicity, and opposite-sex interactions account for more bullying than do homosexual related issues.

46% of boys and 26% of girls have been physically harmed by bullying.

Bullying is not a “normal” stage in teenage development. It’s taught and learned by what kids see.

Only 11 states explicitly outlaw bullying based on sexual orientation or gender identity.

Cyber-Bullying is the new form of bullying. It's worse, because you don't have to say anything to anyone's face. It can be typed from far far away, and is seen by EVERYONE, making it hurt even more.

Every 7 minutes a child is bullied, and 85% of the time, there is absolutely no intervention.

California is among the top 5 states with the highest rates of reported bullying.

13 year old Hope Witsell “sexted” a topless picture of herself to a boy for attention, but received a harsh amount of bullying because of it. She hanged herself in her bedroom.

Bullying is a form of abuse.

18 year old Jesse Logan killed herself when she found out her boyfriend sent revealing pictures of her to all of his friends.

13 year old Ryan Halligan was bullied at school. He befriended a boy who he used to fight with, and one day told him an embarrassing story. This story quickly surrounded the school, and his depression led to his suicide.

13 year old, straight A student Asher Brown lived in Cypress. He was short, and was bullied for it. He also didn't wear the top brand names, and was accused of being gay multiple times. Classmates even mocked gay actions up against him to make fun of him. His bullying resulted in him shooting himself this past August.

There are 14 states that have no laws against school bullying.

Physical Appearance is the most common reason for bullying.

Jaheem Herrera was constantly called gay at school, even though he barely knew the meaning of the word. He dreaded school daily because of this bullying. One day he comes home happy, bringing a straight-A report card, but later was found in his room hanging by a belt. Jaheem was 11 and in 5th grade.

77% of kids admitted to being bullied at some time. (Many of the remaining 23% later admitted they had lied.)

In 2009, an estimated 100,000 students brought guns to their schools as a result of bullying

Maria Herrera was beat up, harassed, cursed at, called train tracks because of her braces, and even had her hair cut by other students. When her mother went to the school about it, they did nothing.

12-year-old Maria took her own life because of the constant bullying she faced at school.

New Jersey currently has a bill called the “Anti-bullying Bill of Rights,” which will outlaw bullying. It is in response to the suicide of Tyler Clementi at Rutgers University. It states that no longer will anti-bullying rules be suggested at schools k-12, but mandatory zero tolerance policies will exist. If passed, it will be one of the toughest state laws of its kind in the nation. It includes bullying because of race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender, gender identity and expression, homosexuality, mental physical and sensory disabilities. There is some objection to this law because of its specificity and it missing certain causes of bullying such as obesity, but if passed it would be a huge step in the anti-bullying campaign.

APPENDIX B

Obscene comments to be yelled:

All comments that are yelled must be IMPERSONAL. While it is important for PPs to understand the harshness of bullying and how hurtful it can be, we also don't want to start personal battles or quarrels between the PPs and the people yelling. For example, if you think someone is a rude, pushy, annoying or whatever, keep it to yourself, and just yell something generically mean.

It IS okay to use bad words. In fact, bad words should be the majority of the comments for they are the most impersonal and also the most noticeable and effective. Think of what people get called in a high-school setting.

Bitch, slut, skank, whore, to name a few. We are trying to grab their emotions and make them understand how bad bullying can be. This is going to set the tone for the rest of the program, because it's the first thing that will happen. It has to be convincing and really make them realize this is going to be a really serious program.

APPENDIX C

Station 1 - Being the Bully

Schedule

The first of the 3 major stations is called Being the Bully. In this station, the PPs will have their eyes opened to the amount of bullying that is occurring. It exists all around us, especially in the new form of cyber bullying.

00:00-00:10 - Facebook quotes - Leadership Bowl - 10 minutes

00:10-00:15 - Transition to Bullying's anonymous - 5 minutes

00:15-00:25 - Bullying's anonymous - Amphitheater - 10 minutes

All of the PPs will stay in one group through this order, because it is the order of these two rotations that make it so affective. It is not a rotation-based station!

This Rotation will occur 3 times, so the above times fit into the following slots

00:20-00:45

00:50-01:15

01:20-01:45

They will each have a 5 minute rotation period, and then the last will be followed by a Closing, where PPs will be sent.

APPENDIX D

Facebook Quotes Jessica Singer, Brielle Mansell, Sam Ramirez Rotation 1, 10 minutes long
Amphitheater

This station is about teaching the PPs that everyone bullies.

ASK - Who here has ever bullied someone?
Who here has ever hurt someone by bullying them?
Who here has bullied multiple times?
Who here has bullied in the last week?
Who here has never bullied?

TO BE READ (OR PARAPHRASED)

Everyone bullies. It's not a question, its a statement. Whether it's as mild as yelling at someone or as harsh as physical bullying, it happens. Has anyone ever told their parents that they hate them or don't like them?

That's bullying too. More often though, is cyber bullying. Texting brought out the first lash of cyber bullying, where you could type things quietly for no one else to hear. Following that was AIM, which allowed for conversations on the computer, and with a username making it easy to be anonymous. Rude comments and pictures quickly spread. Now, Facebook is the culprit. Every day bullying occurs on facebook, hurting people's feelings left and right, whether it's on wall posts, picture comments, videos, status's, groups, event pages, messages, facebook chats, pages, or all the other ways bullying exists. I'm now going to read you quotes from facebook, all of which were posted this school year. The most interesting thing is that most of them were posted by NFTY-ites.

(Read Appendix K, but ONLY FACEBOOK, not Formspring. Read slowly, giving a few seconds to let each quotation sink in.)

After reading facebook, continue reading here.

Now, after Facebook, we have Formspring. Formspring has brought out some of the worst and meanest examples of cyber-bullying. It's an anonymous space where you can be as mean as you want, and no one will ever know it's you if you click the anonymous button. These quotes are from Formspring, and we don't know who said them all, but most of them were on NFTY-ite's pages.

(read Appendix K Formspring quotes, again slowly, giving a few seconds to let each quotation sink in.)

Ask the opening questions again, and then send them to Jake Speyer, in the Amphitheater.

APPENDIX E

Bullying's Anonymous - JAKE SPEYER Rotation 2, 10 minutes long
Amphitheater

In this station, all PPs will have the opportunity to share and publicly apologize for a time they feel like they bullied someone.

TO BE READ (or paraphrased):

Let's face it. We know that we have all bullied someone at sometime. Whether it was to their face, or in the cyber world, we have. Now, with texting, instant messaging, email, facebook, videochat, formspring, and all the other ways we can talk, insulting someone is a lot easier because it's no longer face-to-face, and can even be done anonymously in some cases. But bullying does not make us bad people, and just because you bullied once doesn't mean you can't apologize. Right now, you will all have the opportunity to apologize for a time, or multiple times you bullied.

For the next 5 to 10 minutes, as many of you as possible will have the opportunity to tell a short story of a time you bullied someone, and can say your apology to our welcoming NFTY community without the fear of being judged. You can use fake names and places, and can change whatever details you want to make if comfortable to share to our community, but sharing these messages out loud has two purposes. The first is to make you take some weight off your shoulders, and feel better because of your public apology. Secondly, now we can all know how real bullying is, even with people we know are good people.

PPs will then be called on by the GL (Jake Speyer) to share their stories to the NFTY community surrounding them.

Afterwards, send them to Station 2: Being the Victim in the courtyard outside of Baruh Hall.

The last group (3rd group) you get you will send to the closing - Lower Sports Field

APPENDIX F

Station 2 - Being the Victim

An Advisor will be stationed just outside Baruh Hall, sending people in 2 directions - the area behind them with Sam and Maddy and inside of Baruh Hall with Sophie
Schedule

The next of the 3 major stations is called Being the Victim. This Station is also about teaching how real the dangers of bullying, both face-to-face and cyber, and how much it actually happens. But this station is from the perspective of the victim, not the bully.

00:00-00:10 - Rotation 1 - 10 minutes

00:10-00:15 - Switch - 5 minutes

00:15-00:25 - Rotation 2 - 10 minutes

PPs will be split into two groups by an advisor, to the two separate locations. One rotation will be called Fishbowl, and the other is the It Gets Better Project. They will switch locations where it says switch.

This Rotation will occur 3 times, so the above times fit into the following slots

00:20-00:45

00:50-01:15

01:20-01:45

They will each have a 5 minute rotation period, and then the last will be followed by a Closing, where PPs will be sent.

APPENDIX G

Fishbowl - Sam and Maddy Rotation 1, 10 minutes
Area outside of Baruh Hall

PPs will all be given a sticker as they enter the area by an advisor. There will be 5 different colors of sticker, given out evenly to each PPs, to split them into 5 different groups. There will be sheets of paper (matching the stickers) posted around the room to show PPs where they need to go.

Each PP will be given a half sheet of paper and a pen. The GL's Sam and Maddy will then instruct all groups that they will have 5 minutes to write about a time that they were bullied on the paper in front of them. Then they will fold it in half and put it in the middle of the group. Someone in the group should then mix them up and pass them out at randomly, and each paper will be read out loud (anonymously of course), 1 per PPs. If a PPs gets their own paper it's okay, because no one will know that it's theirs, but the goal is to get someone else's and read it to the group. If there is extra time afterwards, instruct groups to switch stories with another group, and repeat reading anonymously.

For the 1st group of each Station, send them to Baruh Hall - Sophie. If it's the 2nd group of the Station, send them to the Dining Hall - Russell

For the last group, send them to the closing - Lower Sports Field

APPENDIX H

It Gets Better Project - Sophie - Rotation 2 - 10 minutes
Baruh Hall

TO BE READ (or paraphrased)

Bullying happens to almost everyone. It's an unfortunate part of our teen years. That doesn't mean it doesn't happen to adults too, but it does get better.

There is a project that exists called the "It Gets Better Project." It was created in response to the suicides that happened because of bullying. For those PPs who do not know, recently, there have been many suicides, mostly by teens our ages.

The most publicized of these suicides was the suicide of Tyler Clementi. Tyler, who was just a college student when he committed suicide. He asked his roommate to have the room to himself for the night, and his roommate agreed. Tyler and another guy were enjoying their private evening together, not knowing that a camera in the room placed by Tyler's roommate was streaming their physical relationship to many other students. After being publicly outed by his roommate, and later finding out about it, Tyler committed suicide.

This is just one of the many cases where cyber-bullying has pushed people to suicide, and the It Gets Better Project exists to help these teens. It is a youtube playlist composed of older LGBT couples reaching out to bullied teens to tell them that they can make it through, and it really does get better.

(Play as many videos as time permits, they will be saved to a laptop, probably Zack's).

For the 1st group, send them to Sam and Maddy

For the 2nd group, send them to the Dining Hall - Russell

For the last group, send them to the Lower Sports Field

APPENDIX I

Station 3 - Being the Bystander Dining Hall

Russell

The theme of this station is Don't Stand By, Stand Up! Besides the bully and the bullied, there is a 3rd party involved, which is the one who watches without doing. This 25 minute rotation is dedicated to learning about what to do as a bystander.

The GL (Russell) will count people by 10s as they walk in, and have each group of ten sit together. The GL will also give each group a scenario as they walk in, and a couple of pens (with the help of 2 advisors if possible).

The GL will then address the group and explain to them that they have less than 10 minutes to come up with a good solution for the scenario given to them. Keep in mind that you want to have the best possible outcome for the victim, the bully, and YOURSELF as well, for example, you don't want to stop someone someone from being beat up to only end up having both of you get beat up. After the 10 minutes, each group will be given less than a minute to present their scenario and possible solution.

You should give them a 5 minute and 2 minute warning so they have a good sense of time. It is imperative that the station lasts pretty much exactly 25 minutes, so watch the time! During this, have your 2 advisors help you pass out the bracelets with the message "Don't Stand By, STAND UP!" printed on them.

APPENDIX J

Closing - Zack and Alyssa - 10 minutes
Lower Sports Field

Tap on Shoulder

Each group will be sent to the Lower Sports Field (the smaller one by the dining hall). But they have to stay in their 3 large groups. Each of the 3 groups will be seated in individual large circles.

The PL's (Zack and Alyssa) will then instruct the group on the closing activity. Everyone must sit in the circles facing outside the circles and closing their eyes. The PL's will then tap a few people from each group who will stand up and open their eyes. The PL's will then read off a few sentences, such as "touch someone who has made you feel good today," and you will quickly tap, massage, pat on the head, or anything appropriate to as many people as you feel fit that sentence. After a few sentences, we will ask each of the people standing to tap someone new to stand up, and go sit down.

After teaching you all about bullying, we want you to know that there are people all around you who are good to you, and who you can talk to and feel comfortable around. So everyone, face outside the circle and close your eyes!

Sentence suggestions:

Touch someone who has made you feel good today.

Touch someone who made you smile today.

Touch a new friend you made today.

Touch someone who taught you something today.

Touch someone who you would like to drink pina colatas and get caught in the rain with.

Touch someone who you reconnected with.

Touch someone who you know will be your best friend forever.

Touch someone who you missed a lot.

Touch someone you are excited to see at future NFTY events.

Touch someone who you really care about.

Touch someone who you know really cares about you.

Touch someone who you would trust with anything

Touch someone who you could talk to for hours about anything.

Touch someone who you feel really comfortable around.

Touch someone who you think has cool hair.

Touch someone who makes you laugh.

Touch someone who gives good hugs.

Touch someone who can see right through your poker face.

Touch someone who you want to be your future best friend.

Touch someone who you love.

Touch someone who keeps you coming back to NFTY every event.

Appendix L

Scenarios to be cut out and passed out.

You are on facebook, just scanning the newsfeed. You notice a conversation between your girlfriend/boyfriend and your best friend, only to realize they are telling each other off. Then you see another post between your girlfriend/boyfriend and their best friend, dissing your best friend. What should you do? Would you actually go through with it?

You are at school and hear someone you don't know, who is a lot bigger and stronger than you, call someone a really offensive name. What should you do? Would you actually go through with it?

You are at a party and hear two people across the room talking crap about you. They are dissing pretty much everything about you. Neither of them are people who you particularly like, but then a friend of yours walks up to them and starts laughing with them. What should you do? Would you actually go through with it?

You are at school and hear a close friend call someone you both know a bitch, and you also think they are a bitch but wouldn't say that to their face of course. What should you do? Would you actually go through with it?

You see a private group on facebook that is all about trashing someone who you know of, but don't know very well. What should you do? Would you actually go through with it?

You find out someone you know has a “Burn Book” (like in Mean Girls), trashing a lot of people you both know and don’t know. What should you do? Would you actually go through with it?

You see two people in an argument that turns to name-calling, when one of the people uses a really personal and offensive term (like kike, nigger, faggot, or other term that is used to “identify” a certain type of person). What should you do? Would you actually go through with it?

You are in a restaurant and hear someone at another table talking badly about Judaism, saying they are exclusive, greedy, big-nosed, etc. What should you do? Would you actually go through with it?

You hear a Holocaust joke from someone you have never met before? What should you do? Would you actually go through with it? What if you know them? What if they are a close friend?

You see someone exposing a friend’s personal secrets on facebook or another similar website for everyone to see. What should you do? Would you actually go through with it?

You hear that two people you are close to are planning to have a fight. What should you do? Would you actually go through with it?

You see someone you have never met on the street getting beat up by a huge strong guy. What should you do? Would you actually go through with it?
